THE SUNDRY CIVIL BILL.

MANY MORE AMENDMENTS ADDED BY THE SENATE.

The Chinese Commission Amendment Ruled Out-Five Millions for the Proposed St. Louis Exposition - $200,000 to Begin Work on the Proposed Memorial Bridge.

WASHINGTON, May 31 .- The consideration of the Sundry Civil bill was resumed by the Senate to-day, and Mr. Gallinger (Rep., N. H.) offered his amendment for a commission to study the commercial and industrial conditions of China, Japan and other Asiatic countries. (This is the same amendment that was ruled out of order last Tuesday when Mr. Gallinger in retaliation moved to reconsider the vote appro priating five millions for the St. Louis Expoatton, which motion he withdrew to-day.)

Mr. Allison (Rep., Ia.) asked that the amendment lie over for the present, saying that he would examine the matter in the course of the

Mr. Platt (Rep., Conn.) said that the Senate ought to be very cautious about the appointment of commissions for every purpose in the world. It was with commissions as it was with expositions; as soon as one was closed another was started. It was a regular business, worked up by promotors, and for himself he was tired of such solicitations.

Mr. Gallinger called attention to the fact that the original promotor of the Chinese Commission was President McKinley, who had recommended it in two messages to Congress. Mr. Pettigrew (Sil., S. Dak.) made a point of order against the amendment, which point Mr. Stewart (Sil., Nev.) offered an amendment appropriating $400,000 to reimburse the State of Nevada for expenditures in the Civil War A point of order was made by Mr. Allison and overruled, and the amendment was agreed to. Mr. Allen (Pop., Nev.) offered an amendment appropriating $50,000 for a public building at Norfolk, Neb., which was agreed to. Mr. Daniel (Dem., Va.) offered an amendment for the readjustment and payment of all claims of the State of New York, Pennsylvania, Delaware, Virginia and South Carolina and the city of Baltimore for expenditures in the War of 1812. The amendment led to a long discusprincipally as to its being in order on an opriation bill, and finally it was ruled out point of order.

on a point of order.

Mr. Pettigrew offered an amendment for the examination of lands within the borders of any forest reservation that belongs to any land grant railroad company and for the reservation of such lands pending the report. After discussion the amendment was agreed to.

Mr. Chandler (Rep., N. H.) offered amendment appropriating 550,000 for six acres of land at Fort Constitution, New Castle, N. H., to be used as quarters for troops, which was agreed to.

Mr. Daniel offered an amendment appropriaagreed to.

Mr. Daniel offered an amendment appropriating $200,000 for the commencement of work on the proposed Memorial bridge across the Potomac River from the Naval Observatory grounds to the Arlington estate property. A point of order was made by Mr. Allison and was overruled. In the discussion of the amendment Mr. Hoar (Rep., Mass.) expressed doubts as to the artistic merit of the designs of the bridge, and suggested that at the present prices for iron, half a million of dollars might be saved by postponing contracts for a year or two. The amendment was advocated by Messrs, McMillan (Rep., Mich.), Martin (Dem., Va.) Mason (Rep., Ill.) and Daniel, and was agreed to without the yeas and navs.

The bill was then reported to the Senate. All the amendments made in Committee of the Whole were agreed to in bulk, except that as to the St. Louis Exposition, on which a separate vote was asked.

Mr. Daniel moved an amendment providing for the settlement of State claims, and it was agreed to without a division.

Mr. Morgan moved to amend the amendment as to the St. Louis Exposition by reducing the pledge of five millions to three millions. The amendment was rejected and the five-milliondollar amendment was agreed to without a division.

The bill was then passed (its consideration) Daniel offered an amendment appropria-division.

The bill was then passed (its consideration having occupied five days), and the Senate adhaving occupied five day fourned till to-morrow.

ANTI-TRUST DEBATE IN THE HOUSE. The Resolution Proposing an Amendment of

WASHINGTON, May 31 .- In view of the discussion over the anti-trust amendment to the Constitution, the attendance in the House this morning at the opening was much larger than usual. The privileged report from the Committee on Rules for a special order for the debate was read. It provided that the debate should run until 5 o'clock this afternoon and P. M. on Friday. The Littlefield bill amending the Sherman Anti-Trust law is to be considered on Saturday, with an hour of general debate, the Sherman Anti-Trust law is to be considered on Saturday, with an hour of general debate, and under the five-minute rule until 4 o'clock, when the vote is to be taken on the bill and amendments. The rule provides that the amendments offered by the minority of the Committee on the Judiciary shall be considered pending when the vote is taken.

Mr. Richardson Ohem., Tenn.), floor leader for the minority, taunted the Republicans for their authorship of the greatest promoter of trusts—the Dingley bill. That, in his opinion, had done more to promote and foster trusts than any other act of legislation.

Mr. Bailey (Dem., Tex.), said the proposed amendment to the Constitution would not fool the people, who would understand that it was mere play for political advantage. The Republicans, he said, had had every opportunity in the six months of the session to propose antitrust legislation, yet they waited until within ax days before adjournment before bringing in the measures, knowing full well that the Senate would not act on them at this session, if at all. The Republicans also knew no State in the union would vote to permit the General Government to come within its borders and assume duties which rightfully belonged to the State itself. If the resolution were amended so as to apply only to trusts engaged in interstate or foreign commerce, Mr. Bailey said that every Democratic member would vote for it.

Mr. Dalzell (Rep., Pa.) said it was conceded that all the great parties were opposed to trusts. They only differed as to the method of dealing with the question. The Democrats and Populists confined their opposition to mere speech, while the Republicans enacted theirs into legislation. All the anti-trust legislation on the statute books was put there by the Republican party looking to the control or the trusts.

Mr. Richardson wished a vote on the proposition had been made by that party looking to the control or the trusts.

Mr. Bichardson wished a vote on the proposition had been made by that party looking to the contr

Mr. Sulzer-I have no sympathy with the Ice Trust, and I want it distinctly understood that a majority of the stockholders of the trust belong to the Republican machine in the city of New York. The President of the Ice Trust, and for that matter, of all the other great trusts, is a Republican.

Mr. Ray-I say that Tammany Hall is the father of and the mother of and the captain and the king bee of the Ice Trust.

Mr. Sulzer-And I deny it, and I say that the Republican party is. I say that the President and most of the officers and seven-tenths of the stockholders are Republicans.

Mr. Ray-That gallant hero of Santiago, the present Governor of the State of New York, Theodore Roosevelt, the other day made an order directing that this Tammany Hall Ice Trust be prosecuted. They failed to get any prosecutions under the authorities of New York city, held and controlled by Democrats

Mr. Sulzer, during the day, secured the signatures of thirty Democrats to a call for a Democratic conference to-morrow morning at 10 e clock, with a view of reaching some form of action which would be agreeable to members of the party. The call was issued last evening At least twenty-five of the signers are prepared either to vote for the Constitutional amendments or to remain away from the House when

CROWNINSHIELD PROTESTS.

Opposed to Amendment to Naval Bill Relating

WASHINGTON, May 31.—Rear Admiral A. S. Crowninshield, Chief of the Bureau of Navigation, to-day addressed to the Secretary of the Navy a communication which is an emphatic protest against the Senate amendment to the Naval Appropriation bill providing that retired officers of the Navy may be assigned to active service in time of peace. This amendment has created much concern in naval circles, where its possible far-reaching effects on discipline and efficiency are realized, and the views of Admiral Crowninshield probably reflect those of officers on the active list generally and a large proportion of retired officers, who would find their status surrounded by uncertainty should the amendment be enacted into law Later in the day Secretary Long forwarded Admiral Crowninshield's letter to the nava committees of the Senate and the House, with a note in which he says: 'I concur in his (Admiral Crowninshield's) suggestion that it (the amendment) should be so modified as to limit the employment therein provided for of retired officers to those who have not been retired for age or after forty years' service.

Admiral Crowinshield in his letter says: "It (the amendment) really amounts to the abolition of the retired list of the navy, as it abolishes all of its privileges. The objection to such a measure as applied, especially to the older officers on the retired list, is the great uncertainty that will always exist with such offlcers regarding their status. The state of rest certainty that will always exist with such offlcers regarding their status. The state of rest to which they are entitled from their age or longer service, and which they were promised on their entry into the service, will be done away with and they will never know from one day to another when their liberty or retirement may be disturbed.

"The probable effect of the proposed legislation upon the efficiency of the whole body of the navy is most serious and should receive careful consideration. In the first place it will be a blow at the Esprif de Corpe, which will so weaken it by internal jealoustes and dissentions that the efficiency of the body will be greatly injured. Officers on the active list, trained to subordination to those whom they consider properly placed over them by law, will find it very hard to give cheerful obedience to officers who during the vears of recent advancement in naval matters have been passing their time on the retired list, out of all touch with all modern naval matters and exempt from the hardships of the service. It would be quite possible that by the operation of such a law in certain of its applications, an officer of long experience as a captain might find himself superseded by a man who had been retired about the time he went on the captain's list. Again, there will be inevitable confusion in regard to all matters of rank and precedence. An officer retired years ago as an ensign, whose classmates may now be captains, might find himself serving under junior lieutenants, lieutenants, and lieutenant-commanders who graduated from the Naval Academy many years after he did.

"For these as well as for other reasons it will be wise to strike out the amendment, or at least to so modify it as to limit the employment of retired officers to those who have not been rerired for age or after forty years' service, and who, on being examined by professional and medical examining boards, are reported fit for duty."

M'KINLEY'S RUNNING MATE.

The Leaders Still Unable to Find the Right Kind of a Western Man.

WASHINGTON, May 31.-The Republican politicians at Washington are still unable to find the right kind of a Western manfora Vice-Presidential candidate, and it is now more than ever probable that the fight will still be an open one when the Philadelphia Convention meets. All most every night this week there has been a dinner party, attended by men like Hanna, Aldrich, Allison, McMillan, Grosvenor, Henderson, and others, at which the situation has been thoroughly discussed, but everybody who is interested admits that no Western man who has yet been named appears to have any suphas yet been named appears to have any support outside of his own State, and all agree that the candidate of the other would not fill the bill. Thus it has been found that Senator Pairbanks, who a week ago was talked of as the favorite, is now outside the pale of consideration. It has been decided that it would not do to take the President and Vice-President from adjoining States, and that at any rate Mr. Fairbanks' nomination would not add strength to the ticket outside of Indiana.

Senator Wolcott of Colorado is still something of a favorite, notwithstanding his record as an international bimetallist, which it is thought would suit the West all right, but which might not be accepted by the East, although he is as good a sound money man as any whose name

State is taken it is likely to be Senator Allison's candidate, Gov. Shaw. Ex-Senator Manderson of Nebraska has been "talked of" and ex-Gov. Merriam of Minnesota, at present the Director of the Census, and so on.

The President and Senator Hanna are still inclined to believe that a Western man should be taken, but if the right one cannot be found, they may turn again to Massachusetts and Secretary Long or to a New York man, if the State can agree upon a candidate. Nobody seems to know at present what New York will do. It was reported at the Senate to-day that Pennsylvania has decided to cast her vote for Lieut-Gov. Woodruff. If all the candidates who are to-day announced as starters remain in when the race is called there will be, in the language of the track, "a big bunch in the trial heat."

EFFORT TO INCREASE THE ARTILLERY Why Speaker Henderson Opposed the Army Reorganization Bill.

WASHINGTON, May 31.—An earnest effort will be made through the bill of Senator Hawley or the proposed amendment to one of the appropriation bills to provide for increasing the artilery forces as provided for by the Army Reorganization bill which passed the Senate and which has been blocked in the House, largely through the influence of Speaker Henderson. Owing to the fact that Congress will adjourn in a week or ten days, the outlook for the desired legislation is not promising. Ever since it became known that Speaker Henderson was seriously opposed to the bill there has been much specula-tion as to his motive, and it is now learned why he has set his foot down and said that the bill he has set his foot down and said that the bill shall not pass.

A member who has talked with the Speaker on the subject says that his opposition grows out of his fear that any measure providing for the increase of the army would be strongly obnoxious to German-Americans throughout the United States, who are opposed to anything smacking of militarism. The Speaker has received, according to this member, a number of petitions and protests from German-American citizens, who think that there is army legislation enough on the statute books and that the army, is as large now or larger than it really army is as large now or larger than it realig closed in the Senate as far as the present session of Congress is concerned. The credentials of W. A. Clark, appointed by Lieut.-Gov. Spriggs, and of Martin Maginnis, appointed by Gov. Smith, will lie upon the table indefinitely. The resolution of the Committee on Privileges and Elections declaring that Mr. Clark was not entitled to his seat because his election was brought about by bribery and fraud, will also remain unacted upon, notwithstanding the announcement of the committee, made with such a flourish of trumpets, that the resolution would be pressed to a vote for the purpose of putting on record the Senate's opinion of Montana election methods. By the decision to take no action on any feature of the case at this session, Mr. Clark is left the practical victor of the long contest, because the only existing record of the Senate shows that he occupied his seat during almost the entire session, and then voluntarily resigned in a speech in which he defended himself from the charges of the committee. Many Senators think it is a duty that the Senate owes to itself to take some action in line with the recommendation of the committee, but for some reason it has been decided to drop the whole subject. THEIR ENDEAVOR TO CAPTURE THE

JERSEY STATE CONVENTION FAILS. Instruction for Bryan and No Reference to 16 to 1 in Their Platform -Robert Davis Elected One of the Delegates-at-Large

Minority Report in Bryan's Interest. TRENTON, N. J., May 31.-There was a Bryan State Convention here to-day, but in it there was never a reference to 16 to 1. Neither was there an indorsement of the Chicago platform. A propo ed plank instructing the delegates t vote for Bryan was knocked out by a vote of 14

It was the Democratic State Convention to elect delegates to the Kansas City Convention of July 4. Col. C. Meyer Zulick, once Governor of Arizona Territory, but formerly, as well as at the present time, a Jersey man, was temporary and permanent chairman When the Committee on Resolutions was ready to report, Congressman William D. Daly took the stage and announced that the platform as drafted was one that the party could unite upon. He did not make it known that he struggled hard in the committee to get better recognition of Bryan and his theories in the platform. As the reading of the platform progressed, and tioned till near the end of the document; that there was no provision for his support at Kansas City and no indorse ment of the Chicago platform, the delegates expressed their displeasure in howls of rage. Hundreds of them demanded to be heard at the same time. Finally way was made for Alfred R. Dulin of Burlington county, who assured the convention that Bryan had friends. He read a platform adopted by a minority of the Committee on Resolutions, which suited the "trusty" Democrats better than the old one. There was a complimentary reference to Bryan in the first sentence, and such phrases as "Corporate conspirators," "Enemy of God and vampire of men" and "Criminal combination of centralized wealth.

These phrases had reference to the trust sublect and the delegates shouted themselves hoarse in their approval of them. This platform hoarse in their approval of them. This platform contained planks indorsing the Chicago platform and instructing the New Jersey delegation to cast their ballots for Bryan for President. The reading of the latter planks made the "trustles" wild with delight. Ex-Senator Edwards of Hudson county moved that the platform reported by the majority of the committee be adopted. Congressman Daly to quell the disturbance that arose when this motion was made delivered a speech calculated to mollify its opponents an i he succeeded in a measure.

the disturbance that arose when this motion was made delivered a speech calculated to mollily its opponents and he succeeded in a measure.

"This platform," he said, "was the result of the best men in the party."

"Who are they?" shouted a delegate.

Congressman Daly made no answer. Mr. Dulin wanted to be heard again and two hundred or more delegates demanded the right for him, but Chairman Zulick declared that the previous question had been moved. This excited Counsellor Crandall, the leader of the "trusties," and he denounced the proceedings as an outrage. He was so forceful in his remarks and so persistent in making them that Chairman Zulick threatened to have him removed from the floor by the sergeant-at-arms. The majority report was adopted, Gloucester, Hunterdon, Morris, Salem, Cumberland and Burlington counties voting solidly for the other one, which also received scattering votes from other counties, making a total of 188 votes.

The platform adopted denounces the Republican party for "its open effort to foster trusts in the great industrial trades;" calls for a strict enforcement of the laws against them and the removal of protective duties from products which enter into competition with the output of these combinations.

The platform further declares opposition to imperialism; denounces the Republican party for "enforcing an unconstitutional tariff upon the people of Porto Rico," and declares for free government for the Philippine Islands. Other planks demand that "our pledges to Cuba be sacredly kept," and one favors the Boers, while another favors an amendment to the lederal Constitution providing for the election of United States Senators directly by the people. Congressman Daly by main strength got the committee, which wanted to shy the money question entirely, to insert this sop in the platform:

"We favor the bimetallism that has always been advocated and supported by the Democratic party from its inception to the cresent time." And the "trusty" Democrats who falled in their effort to force the Michael T. Batrett of Essex, who was also a candidate for delegate-at-large, received 423 votes, 545 being necessary for a choice. Essex county voted solidly for Davis, but Hudson was pledged to support Martine, and announced its regret that it could not return the favor by voting for Barrett. Ferrell and Cornish each received 1,077 votes, Davis got 1,051 and Martine 654. The following district delegates were cleeted:

First district—George Pfeiffer of Camden, Samuel Iredell of Cumberland.

CAPT. M'GOWAN FOUND GUILTY.

The Sentence Is Suspension Iwo Years on Hali Pay and a Public Reprimand.

WASHINGTON, May 31.-The Naval Court Martial which met at the Washington Navy Yard on Tuesday for the trial of Capt. John McGowan on three charges, growing out of the killing by him while in command of the monitor Monadnock of a Filipino native at Cebu, con-cluded its work to-day by finding Capt. Mc-Gowan guilty of all the charges and imposed sentence of suspension from duty for two years on one-half sea pay and to be publicly reprimanded by the Secretary of the Navy All the members of the court signed a state reprimanded by the Secretary of the Navy. All the members of the court signed a statement recommending elemency. The record of the proceedings and findings was handed to the Secretary of the Navy Usis afternoon. No action will be taken by Secretary Long until the Judge Advocate General of the Navy has reviewed the record.

The killing of the Filipino occurred at Cebu last November while the Monadnock was in that harbor. No report of the affair was made to the Navy Department, and on the basis of newspaper reports. Secretary Long wrote to Rear Admiral Watson, then in command of the Asiatic station, to investigate and report whether the newspaper statements were true. Admiral Watson, then in command of the Asiatic station, in forwarding his report, said that he had never heard of the tragedy until he had received Secretary Long's letter. A court of inquiry, consisting of three Admirals, was appointed this month to investigate the affair and it recommended that Capt. McGowan be tried by court-martial. The court-martial was ordered on May 26.

The charges on which Capt. McGowan was tried were, conduct tending to the destruction of good morals, conduct to the prejudice of good order and military discipline, and neglect of duty. The specifications were that Capt. McGowan fired the fatal shot "wilfully and without the exercise of proper discretion," that he had failed to report the killing to the Commander-in-Chief of the Asiatic station, this last specification being under the third charge.

In his defence Capt. McGowan testified that the native killed had approached the Monadnock in a caseo, contrary to regulations, to prevent smuggling of liquor on board. He was warned twice to move away and did so, but again approached it. Capt. McGowan then fired a shot at the water in the direction of the caseo. It was not known that the native had been hit until he climbed aboard the Monadnock. Capt. McGowan had him sent to the shore hospital, where he died three days later. In answering the charge or not reporting the occurren

HILL AND M'LAUGHLIN.

Generally Believed They Will Act in Concert

at the State Convention. Just what the attitude of the fifty-seven delegates from Kings county, who are controlled by Hugh McLaughlin, may be in the State Convention, may not be definitely known until Monday, when they are to have a general conference. The prevailing impression, however, is that Mr. McLaughlin will side with ex-Senator David B. Hill against Tammany in resisting the pledging of the support of the State to Bryan. It was under direct instructions from Mr. McLaughlin that the Executive Committee week ago indignantly frowned down the attempt of Warden Patrick Hayes to have Bryan indorsed by that body, and respect for consistency alone would impel him to pursue the same course in the State Convention. There was a rumor yesterday that an actual meeting took place in Brooklyn on Wednesday afternoon between ex-Senator Hill and Mr. McLaughlin, and that they quickly reached a harmonious understanding. But, while it cou'd not be positively verified, there seems to be no doubt that their respective forces will be found sitting together on Tuesday. Mr. McLaughlin, however, according to his invariable custom, will abide by the action of the convention, being his proud boast that there has never been a boit of the Kings County Democracy during the long period it has been under his sovereignty. He is still as much opposed to the heresies of the Chicago platform as he was four years ago, but he will put up just as stiff a fight this year as he did then should it be reaffirmed and Bryan be renominated at Kansas City. While regarding Bryan's renomination as inevitable, he still thinks that the delegates to Kansas City should go uninstructed. It is not likely that any attempt will be made at the conference of the Kinas county delegates on Monday to enforce the unit rule. Warden Hayes controls the three delegates from the Fifth Assembly district and Senator Michael J. Coffey the three from the Ninth, and Both have been all along posing as the champions of Bryan and Bryanism in Brooklyn Were the unit rule enforced, it would undoubtedly strengthen them in their revolt against the Willoughby Street machine, a contingency which Mr. McLaughlin, James Shevlin, ex-Senator John McCarty and Senator P. H. McCarren will be compelled to avoid. As a further step in the punishment of Coffey, his deposition from his place as State committeeman from the Fifth Senatorial district has been decreed and Councilman William A. Doyle, the regular leader in the Seventh Assembly district has been selected as his successor. Coffey, Hayes and all their supporters in their rebellion against Willonghby Street, are elated opposed to the heresies of the Chicago regular leader in the Seventh Assembly district has been selected as his successor. Coffey, Haves and all their supporters in their rebellion against Willoughby Street, are elated over a prospect of pessible conflict between Hugh McLaughlin and Richard Croker as a result of a rumpus in the State Convention, believing that it would eventually lead to an invasion of Mr. McLaughlin's dominions by Tammany and a bran new political alignment there.

The Democratic leaders of the Assembly districts in Brooklyn met last night in the Constitution Club on Schermerhorn street. It was an executive session and after it was all over everybody kept quiet about what had been decided upon except James Shevlin, Boss McLaughlin's chief lieutenant, who let fall one significant sentence and then refused to tell what he meant.

There will be no fight in the convention," said Mr. Shevlin.

This is taken to mean that McLaughlin has refused to turn over the Brooklyn delegates' vote to David B. Hill, or that he has made his peace with Tammany Hall.

John L. Shea, the Bridge Commissioner, and chairman of the Executive Committee, has made arrangements for the transportation of the National delegates from Kings to Kansas City. The delegates to the State Convention will hold a meeting on Monday night next.

SOCIALIST NATIONAL CONVENTION. A Platform, Not a Ticket, Will Engage Its

Principal Energies. The Tenth National Convention of the Socialist Labor Party of the United States will be called to order by the National Secretary, Henry Kuhn, at the Grand Central Palace to morrow morning at 10 o'clock, and the convention will probably continue in session for a week. From eighty to one hundred delegates will be present, representing every section of the country. On Sunday a concert and vaude-ville entertainment will be given in their honor at the Roof Garden off the Grand Central Pal-ace, and this will be followed by public meetings and receptions in every Assembly district. The delegates can all make speeches, and most of them will have a chance. An official bulletin says: "The discordant elements which were so active in past conventions are no longer connected with the party. The few sentimentalists, cranks and anarchists who still cling to the Socialist Labor party were expelled last year for attempting to seize the National Executive Committee by force, and with their expulsion the party was freed from all reactionary members and is now entirely harmonious."

The Socialist Labor party does not put much stress on its candidates. It gives its chief attention to the platform, and, therefore, it is hard to find out who will be nominated for President and Vice-President. Indeed, the matter receives very little attention, and the only persons mentioned so far are Thomas Curran, Providence, R. I., and T. J. Dean of Seattle, Wash.

ALLEGANY'S BOLTING DEMOCRATS. They Send Another Bryan Delegation to the State Convention. BOLIVAR, N. Y., May 31.—The bolting wing of he Allegany county Democracy held a convention at Friendship to-day and elected P. B. Kelley, John Costigan and H. W. Breckinridge delegates to the State Convention. The Chicago delegates to the State Convention. The Chicago platform was reaffirmed and the renomination of William J. Bryan demanded. Frank B. Mott of Buffalo addressed the convention and secured the support of the bolting wing in his effort to be a delegate to the National Convention from the Thirty-fourth district. Allegany county will have two sets of delegates to the Democratic State Convention, both instructed for Bryan, and the fight may result in two county tickets being named. Since it began several weeks ago the factional fight for control of the party organization has grown more bitter every day. Now it looks as though it would not be possible to heal it up before election.

WHITEHALL, N. Y., May 31.-The Democrats of Washington county to-day elected Robert Hamilton, George B. McCartee, Jr. and Henry Hamilton, George B. Mctartee, Jr. and Henry C. Day delegates to the State Convention. The delegates are favorable to Senator David B. Hill. Mr. Hamilton is a candidate for State Committeeman, and it is expected that Schenectady will join forces with Washington in his selection. Resolutions were adopted without dissent instructing the delegates to take the necessary action to pledge the New York national delegates to Bryan.

THE TALULAH LYNCHINGS.

Italy Pressing for the Punishment of the Men

WASHINGTON, May 31.-The State Department has exhausted every effort to obtain legal redress on account of the killing of five Italians at Talulah, La., last year, and the negotiations at Talulah, La., last year, and the negotiations between Italy and the United States are now in a condition apparently embarrassing to this Government. Italy is pressing for the punishment of the men concerned in the lynching and evidently will not be satisfied with the payment of an indemnity to their families. The Grand Jury of the parish in which Talulah is situated has met three times, but each time failed to return any indictments against the lynchers. No settlement of the matter that will be satisfactory to Italy is in sight.

Newburgh, May 31.—The continuation of match play at the Powelton Club for the champlonship resulted in E. A. Jova beating Joseph Chadwick, Jr., by 1 up (nineteen hoies). This match was followed by a gallery. On the first round Jova led Chadwick by 4 up. Chadwick then commenced to play good golf and had a lead of 1 up at the seventeenth hole. Chadwick topped his drive for the eighteenth hole into the brook, which cost him a stroke. Jova then made his hole in four, par golf. On the extra hole Jova drove to the right of the course, but was not penalized Chadwick drove a good ball, but on his second silced into heavy grass. Jova, by a fine brassey, got well up toward the green and won the hole, 5 to 6. Taylor beat Dr. Mitchell by 3 and 1. The winner of to-morrow's match between Jova and Taylor meets Gilman P. Tiffany, the holder of the cup, at thirty-six holes. In the consolation division Waldron beat Hinckley and W. E. Chadwick beat James G. Graham.

CAMBRIDGE, May 31.- The Harvard first and second 'Varsity crew rowed the last long time trial which will probably be indulged in before they leave for New London over the three and three-eighth mile course on the Charles River yesterday afternoon. The time was 17 minutes and 3-5 second, which is not fast. Considering there was a strong tide under them and that the water was smooth as a mirror, faster time was expected.

The first crew, for the first time this season, was unable to overcome the twenty seconds start allowed the second crew, being a good boat's length astern at the finish. Both boats were not as steady as they might have been and several bad individual faults were apparent. All the men stood the test well and pone of them fell over or showed any symptoms of collapse, although all of them were pretty tired at the end of the race. trial which will probably be indulged in before

GANG AS SLICK AS PAGIN'S. Four Trained Boy Pickpockets Nabbed in the Memorial Day Crowd.

A gang of boy thieves who, the police say, are as expert as any Fagin ever trained was captured on Wednesday in Fifth avenue during the Memorial Day parade by Detectives Petrosini and Krautch of the Central Office and in the Jefferson Market police court yesterday in the Jefferson Market police court yesterday were held for trial.

The detectives were watching the crowd at the parade when they noticed a woman being followed by three boys. Two of the boys were one on each side of the woman. The third, a little fellow, was behind her, apparently watching for a chance to rob her, and he appeared to be nervous over the part he had to play. Occasionally he glanced over to an opposite corner. Then the detectives presently saw a fourth boy wave his hand to the group. At this signal the little fellow behind the woman nudged one of the other two. They jostled the woman and the little boy's hand darted out for her pocket. It hadn't much more than gone in the pocket before one of detectives grabbed the boy and one of the larger confederates at the same time. The other detectives coured the third youngster. They were turned over to a policeman while the detectives gathered in the boy who had acted as the look-out on the other side of the street.

He was John Salluppo of 58 Mulberry street. It was his fourteen-year-old brother Antonio who had acted the part of the "dodger." The two others were Louis Perrutti, 1s, and Antonio Lopadi, 17, both of 62 Mulberry street. Antonio Salluppo, the smallest of the gang, said that the others had taught him to rob and he had made at least had a sught him to rob and he had made at least and the same of the gang, said that the others had taught him to rob and he had made at least and the same of the gang, said that he others had taught him to rob and he had made at least and the garden of the gang, said that he others had taught him to rob and he had made at least and the garden of the gang, said that he others had taught him to rob and he had made at least the garden of the gang, said that he others had taught him to rob and he had made at least the garden of the garden the smallest of the gang, said that the others had taught him to rob and he had made at least fifty trips picking pockets and his share of the proceeds had been about $50.

Joe Walcott III With Typhold Fever.

Joe Walcott Ill With Typhold Fever. Tom O'Rourke, Joe Walcott's manager, received word late last night that the latter is dangerously ill with typhoid fever at Laine's Hotel. New Dorp. Staten Island. Walcott, who has been at the resort for several days, training for some of the matches he has on hand, contracted a cold a couple of days ago while doing road work. Nothing was thought of it at first and he continued to work, thinking he could get rid of the cold by working it off. Yesterday, however, he began to show symptoms of pneumonia and he was quickly hustled to bed. A physician was sent for and he pronounced it a case of typhoid pneumonia and said that nothing could be said as yet as to the probable outcome. Walcott's rugged constitution will doubtless be a big help in fighting with the sickness. He is now matched to fight Choynski, Billy Stift and several others, and unless his recovery is rapid these matches will probably be postponed. ceived word late last night that the latter is
